Yesterday morning had about as doleful an outlook for an excursion as could be THUNDER, lightning, hall and rain—that under the programme last night. undaunted courage would have ventured to attempt a day in the woods. Even the pastor and committe had grave doubts about the feasibility of going, but not so he children-they wanted to go "rain or shine." They said, "We went to McCoy's in 1873 in the rain and had a splendid time, and we want to go again."

AND THEY DID GO. About five o'clock in the morning the ommittee was astir, and numbers were sen wending their way to the places of seen wending their way to the places of rendervous. By half-past six over four hundered persons had assembled, full of hope for a day in the country. Reaching Bridgeport, there was some little delay in loading the precious freight, but under the careful management of conductor L. Philiger and his efficient crew, the work was accomplished, and the special train moved off amid of the progress of the train were posted by Mr. Bailie at the Union ticket office and also at Bridgeport, and elicited much interest. When one was announced which said: "No rain here." "Five hundred excursionists happy," there was a round of applause by the bystanders, which told how deep a hold the efforts of this school have on the populace. At ten o'clock THE TRAIN REACHED M'COY'S.

thirty-four miles above Bridgeport, and many said "how delightful the ride," how beautiful the country. Led by the band bad of slag.

Many people read the English Lutheran bulletins yesterday as Mr. Bailie posted them, and fairly shouted for joy at the success of the excursion.

the excursionists marched to the grove and though it was a little wet soon the baskets were opened, fires were lighted, and the merry shouts of old and young made the air vocal with sweet sounds.

THE GROUNDS were within six minutes walk of the depot A place of grand old trees, green sward and plenty of water. The owners, Mesers.
Wilkinsons and Stewarts, had cleared away the weeds erected a stand and in many ways favored the school, saying "anything we can do for this school we met cheerfully will do."

THE AMUSEMENTS were varied, but all in keeping with the character and work of the Sabbath School. The little children had swings and inno cent plays, the big ones promenades, "Bingo," Miller," &c., &c., and never did we see people snjoy themselves more heartily nor sensable. At three o'clock RELIGIOUS SERVICES were held, opening with the hymn, "Another year's rich meriles prove His ceaseless care and boundless love."

Prayer was offered by the pastor and ar appropriate address of five minutes devered by Hon. J. H. Atkinson, of New Cumberland, Hancock county. Many visitors were present from Hancock coun visitors were present from fancous county, and enjoyed saking questions concerning the organization and work of a Sunday School of so wide a reputation. Quite a number of Wheelingites visited New Cumberland and friends in McCoy's, notably the kind-hearted Hon. J. N. M. Stewart and family, whose kindness of eleven years ago was not forgotten. We recept to report this solive old gentleman regret to report this active old gentleman in a state of nervous prostration, from which it is hoped he will soon recover. THE NOON TRAIN

OVER SEVEN HUNDRED PERSONS were on the grounds. All these unite in expressions of thanksgiving and joy, and mention not only the above named persons, but also Mr. W. H. Johnston, C. & P. agent, and Mr. M. O. Gillespie, his assistant, as exceedingly kind and courteous and attentive to every want.

THE DIFFERENT COMMITTEES did their work well, which accounts for much of the success of the excursion. The refreshment and lunch stands were admirably managed, and "filled a telt want"

tween Secretary Caldwell, of the gas works and Lon Linch, an employe of J. R. Handlan Co., in which Mr. Caldwell was rather badly used up, and his opponent "escaped not without a scratch." The inwardness of the fuss appears to be about this: Several years ago the livery firm of Huseman & Mendel collapsed and Mr. Caldwell was appointed assignee to collect the bills and settle the accounts. Among the bills found on the books was one of $17 against Linch, $12 of which Linch said he had paid and held a receipt for its payment. Mr. Caldwell subsequently went after the other $5 but did not succeed in collecting it, but Linch, as he alleges, signed an agreement to pay it. Yesterday morning Mr. Caldwell went down to Handlan's store and encountering his man on the payement in front of the room, asked him for the money in a very abrupt manner, and Linch replied in the same strain, when some further conversation ensued respecting the debt, during rather badly used up, and his opponent same strain, when some further conver-sation ensued respecting the debt, during which Mr. Caldwell characterized Linch as a "d—d little scoundrel." Lesving him then for a few minutes he went to his office, and procuring a book with Linch's agreement to pay the balance of the debt in it, he sgain returned to the McLure House and showed Linch the ocular evi-dence of his obligation to pay the debt. Linch cut off further debate by refusing flatly to pay the debt unless his old receipt latly to pay the debt unless his old receip was returned to him and a receipt in ful

When Mr. Caldwell again repeated When Mr. Caldwell again repeated his exclamation, "You are a d—d little scoundrel," and reiterated it time and again until Linch struck him and knocked him over. Mr. Caldwell recovered himself and again came to time, but on account of his very light avoirdupois was no match for his much larger and much more powerful antagonist, and was again knocked some distance. Other blows were passed and Linch was struck in the eye and had his nose scratched. Chief Beanett appeared on the scene of action about this time and notified both of the puglists to appear at the Police Court this morning.

Woman's Wisdom

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that it is more importance that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should ense, care and anxiety. All women should xercise their wisdom in this way. - New Haven
